Cites Asia Leadership Need

Nixon Arrives In Manila For Meeting With Marcos

MANILA (AP) — President Nixon arrived today in the troubled Philippines, where anti-American nationalism has been building, for a 23-hour visit featuring talks with President Ferdinand Marcos and his political opponents.

The president and Mrs. Nixon flew to Manila from Guam. They were greeted by Marcos with full military honors and drove in a motorcade to Malacanang Palace.

Nixon was to confer there for 2½ hours with Marcos and other Philippine leaders, followed by a state dinner. He is to confer again with Marcos on Sunday.

Upon arriving at his first stop on an Asian tour, Nixon deplored an Asian tour, Nixon deplored an Asian tour, Nixon deplored an Asian tour.

"Peace and progress must be shaped and protected primarily by Asian hands," Nixon said at the airport. "The contributions which my country can make to that progress should come as a supplement to Asian energies and in response to Asian leadership."

Marcos seemed to share Nixon's views. He agreed there should be no "heavy handed dominance" by the United States, but voiced concern about a "complete pullout of the U.S. from Asia."

Thousands lined the five-mile route from the airport to the presidential palace. Some waved signs that read: "Mr. Nixon: Fly Us to the Moon."

A total of 16,000 security troops were reported deployed along the route from the airport and in the capital to ensure that no possible demonstrations got out of hand.

Before leaving Guam, Nixon told newsmen he recognizes the validity of "Asia for the Asians" sentiment and is determined to assist, but not dictate to, the non-Communist nations on the subcontinent.

But Marcos indicated that he has some questions to ask Nixon about U.S. policy in Asia, particularly the rate of U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam. In comments to newsmen before Nixon's arrival Marcos also said he believes that some kind of American military umbrella will be needed in Southeast Asia for the next "10 or 20 years."

"The danger we face in the Philippines is not external aggression but internal subversion," Marcos said.

Although the Philippines are allied with the United States in the Vietnam war, there has been agitation here against the large U.S. military presence in the islands. Nixon has said the American deployments in the Philippines are under review.

Long an American possession, the Philippines were granted independence in 1946. Nationalist sentiment runs strong here, and militant Filipinos often complain that Manila's ties with Washington are still too close.

The Marcos government, friendly to the United States, is wrestling with rising crime rates, allegations of widespread

Justice Too Cheap

CHARLESTON (AP)—A Charleston attorney has been fined $50 for refusing to defend a pauper in court.

William H. Hazlett was charged with contempt for refusing to continue as the court-appointed attorney for Anthony McKeever.

Hazlett defended McKeever in Municipal Court earlier this year, but refused to continue as his attorney in a robbery case June 26 after he had been convicted in a murder case.

Hazlett said he would be deprived of property without due process of law if forced to defend a felon for only $50, the amount set to defend paupers. McKeever since has hired Hazlett on a fee basis.

Open Box Today

Scientists Eager To See Moon Dust

By ALTON BLAKESLEE SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — At long last the moment has arrived.

So long tantalized by the moon, scientists today realize a dream—a close-up look at rocks stolen from the moon and brought home to earth.

The drama begins when an aluminum box the size of a small suitcase is opened inside a vacuum chamber, in the lunar receiving laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center.

The box weighs 33 1-3 pounds, total. Inside are about 20 pounds of priceless treasure—probably more than 15 pounds of rocks from the moon, two tubes containing moon stuff dug up by coring five inches or so down and into the moon's surface, and an aluminum window shade that captured particles of the sun's eternal, atomic solar wind.

When the box is opened, scientists looking through a glass window, will for the first time see closeup rocks from the moon. They were picked from the moon's surface at Tranquility Base by Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., the first men to walk that planet.

The careful process of exposing them to initial view is scheduled to begin when a crew of technicians comes on duty at the lunar receiving laboratory.

Actual opening of the box will come later but the time is not precise because no one has ever before had any experience with handling lunar rocks. Dr. Persa P. Bell of the LRL said.

For scientists, the rocks will begin speaking the true story of how the moon was born, what has happened to it through billions of years, what may be happening to it now.

Through their factual story, the rocks will add more solid knowledge, not otherwise obtainable, about the earth, the sun, the solar system. They are bound to add something—whether a footnote or a new chapter—to man's knowledge of his universe.

3 Astronauts Near Hawaii, Texas Flight

ABOARD USS HORNET (AP) — Apollo 11's isolated astronauts cruised toward landfall in Hawaii today and a flight to Houston where they face 16 days additional quarantine against possible moon bugs.

They will be lodged in the same building where scientists today open the boxes of rocks that Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. collected on the moon Sunday.

Armstrong, Aldrin and Michael Collins remained in their silver quarantine van as the Hornet churned northeastward toward a 2 p.m. EDT arrival in Honolulu, where Gov. John Burns and thousands of Hawaiians planned to greet the heroes who flew man's first moon-landing mission.

Skirmishes Mark Lull In Vietnam

South Viet Forces Hit Reds In Minor Field Engagements

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces mauled Communist ground units in scattered clashes over the past two days but the general battlefield lull, now in its sixth week, continued today.

Military spokesmen said 115 enemy soldiers had been killed in a series of small fights and that the bodies of 28 slain in earlier skirmishes had been found. But a U.S. spokesman said the figures reflected no upsurge in the lull, which began June 18.

"In fact," he said, "these incidents are very typical of actions now. We are inflicting relatively high casualties without taking many of our own."

The U.S. Command reported 12 enemy shellings in the 24-hour period that ended at 8 a.m. Saturday, about average for recent days. Four were against U.S. installations but there were no American casualties, the command said.

Military and civilian officials went ahead today with preparations for a visit by President Nixon. White House spokesmen have said Nixon has "no plans" to stop in the war zone during his current world tour, but observers here believe he will confer somewhere in Vietnam next week with President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Earlier in the day, Thieu told a gathering of 1,000 military and civilian officials that his July 11 peace proposal, in which he offered the National Liberation Front a role in national elections, was his last concession to the Communists.

If they continue to reject it, he said, "our only alternative is to fight."

On the battlefield, the U.S. Command reported that troops of the U.S. 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment killed 12 enemy soldiers and captured three Friday near Dau Tieng, 35 miles northwest of Saigon.

The tankers suffered no casualties in the battle, the command said.

Kirchgessner, a retired lieutenant of the Salem police force, and Bettis will attend a week-long short course at Northwestern University, starting Sunday.

The short course is for prosecuting attorneys and their staff members.

34 Believed Killed In French Jet Crash

MARSEILLES, France (AP) — An Air Algerie Caravelle jetliner, carrying 30 European oilmen and a crew of six, crashed today in southern Algeria, an airline spokesman announced. He said two crew members were believed to have survived.

Most of the passengers on board were said to be French.

The Caravelle went down near Hassi Messaoud, the spokesman said. The plane, chartered by the French charter service Comarset, had picked up 16 passengers at Paris' Orly Airport and then another group at Marseilles.

Questions Unanswered

Sen. Kennedy Waits Reaction To Speech

SEN. EDWARD KENNEDY Denies Improper Conduct In Girls' Death.

Responses Rough

Public's Divided Over Teddy's Tale

WASHINGTON (AP) — A divided public offered no clear vote of confidence nationally today for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy. The response was often rough and ridden with doubt.

Democratic politicians generally closed ranks around the senator after his television explanation of the automobile accident which took the life of Mary Jo Kopechne. Republicans tended to reserve comment.

The people of Massachusetts, target of Kennedy's appeal for advice as to whether he should resign, poured out their support for their senator.

Kansas City secretary Mary Collier said, "how glibly do they think people are?"

In Atlanta, Harry Brown said, "I had no opinion on the matter until I heard him say tonight he swam that channel. Now I realize that it is a complete fabrication."

Former Texas Gov. John Connally, who was with John F. Kennedy when he was killed, said, "There's no doubt that he will be hurt unless he gives more satisfactory answers. He really gave none of substance tonight."

Special Session Ends

West Virginia Legislature Approves Tax Credit Plan

CHARLESTON (AP) — Republican Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr. batted 8 for 18 in the Democratic legislature's special session and got what he wanted most: an investment credit tax bill to lure new industry to West Virginia.

Democratic leaders voiced some misgivings about the tax credit bill, but in the end only three votes were cast against it in the two legislative chambers Friday night.

Sen. Clarence E. Martin Jr., D-Berkeley, cast the "nay" in the Senate, where the vote was 32-1. Dissenters in the 91-2 House vote were Dels. Kenneth Auvil, D-Barbour, and Thomas E. Myles, D-Fayette.

The special session began Monday at Moore's call and ended a few minutes before midnight Friday. Nearly all the floor voting took place in the day and night sessions Friday, after two days of majority caucuses and strategy sessions had developed a consensus on how much of Moore's program the Democrats wanted to pass.

—TWENTY BILLS were introduced in the special session and 10 were passed. However, two of the bills passed did no more than correct 1969 regular session mistakes and could not be called

Puts Career On Line In Girl's Death

Senator Considers Resigning, Leaves Decision To People

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has put his fabled political future on the line before a divided public after a pretty secretary's death that left haunting questions still unanswered today.

Kennedy announced Friday night he may resign from the U.S. Senate if Massachusetts voters have lost confidence in him because of the car accident which killed his young blonde passenger on a lonely island road a week ago.

The first swelling tide of telegrams and telephone calls in his home state ran strongly in support of the senator. But across the nation, the doubts lingered. "I still trust him. But I don't think a lot of people do," said a college student in Pittsburgh.

—Kennedy, in an unprecedented national television appearance, said there is "no truth whatever" to ugly rumors of immoral conduct that shadow the accident. "Nor was I driving under the influence of liquor," he added.

Kennedy, in a national television appearance, said there is "no truth whatever" to ugly rumors of immoral conduct that shadow the accident. "Nor was I driving under the influence of liquor," he added.

And in those terrible moments, he said, he questioned "whether some awful curse did actually hang over all the Kennedys."

The 37-year-old senator told of the water rushing into his lungs as he fought to escape his sunken car after it plunged off a bridge into an estuary. And he said he nearly drowned again as he swam across a channel from the island to the village where he had been staying.

—New Doubts Rise This was the first explanation of how Kennedy got off the island in the nine hours between the accident and the time he walked into the police station in Edgartown to report the death.

Old Marker Lighted

Street Lamp Installed Near Surveyor Monument

By ROBERT POPP
The big granite monument at the Ohio - Pennsylvania state line commemorates deeds of deerling 183 years ago finally has emerged from the darkness — literally — but it probably still holds a record as one of the least visited of America's registered national historic landmarks.

A new streetlight has been erected close by the monument, which commemorates the occasion on Aug. 20, 1785, when a party of explorers and surveyors set a stake nearby on the shore of the Ohio River to mark the "point of beginning" for the surveying of all the public lands of the U.S. to the west.

The East Liverpool Historical Society said it had received complaints from visitors who arrived at the spot close to sundown or after dark and found they needed flashlights or matches to read the inscriptions on three of its four sides.

OTHERS complained they whizzed by without seeing the monument because it was unlighted. There are no signs on either approach to the monument such as some states use: "Historic Marker Ahead." And the monument is not clearly visible to a traveler until his auto is within a few feet of it.

The streetlight is on a newly-erected utility pole just outside the low enclosure that surrounds the monument. Although there have been complaints in the past that the site was maintained poorly, a check showed that the weeds and grass have been trimmed recently, so that it is not obscured.

The area on the Ohio side of the line also is reasonably clear of the usual wayside deposits of cans, bottles and carry-out food containers. Pennsylvania's side of the site is another story. It is sprinkled pretty liberally with trash, along with a pile of chopped-up tree limbs that apparently were discarded by someone pruning a large tree across the highway. The trash is within a few feet of a big sign that tells travelers: "Welcome to Pennsylvania."

THERE'S A pull-off spot for traffic on the berm on both sides of the monument. The sites are unpaved, but are large enough to park several autos. Traffic is heavier than ever on the busy highway, which became Temporary Route 30 with the closing of the Chester Bridge in mid-May.

The monument was moved to its present site in 1960. It was erected originally in 1881 by a joint Ohio - Pennsylvania commission which resurveyed the boundary line marked out in 1786.

When the monument was shifted to its present location, it gained another inscription pointing out that on Aug. 20, 1785, a stake was driven nearby to mark the point of beginning for the survey of all public lands of the U.S. outside the 13 original colonies. The surveying work was directed by Thomas Hutchins, head of the "Geographer's Department," who led a party that invaded the trackless wilderness on orders from Congress.

CONGRESS WAS anxious to have a survey made in order that it could sell off some of the land to the speculative and optimistic as a way of reducing the federal debt. Hutchins' work was interrupted once by "disagreeable intelligence concerning the Indians," but he persevered until his task was finished.

The point at which he drove his original stake is about 1,100 feet south of the monument.

The monument was moved to its present location in September 1960 as a joint project of the East Liverpool Historical Society and the American Congress on Mapping and Surveying.

In 1966, the monument was designated as a registered national historic landmark by the National Park Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior. A bronze plaque carrying the designation was affixed to the north face of the monument in a ceremony Sept. 30, 1966.

H. B. Barth, curator of the East Liverpool Historical Society Museum, said the U. S. Geodetic Survey once termed the monument "the most important in the nation" because it served as the reference point for land surveys as far west as California.

Annual Event Held

21 Volunteers 'Capped' At Red Cross Ceremony

Twenty-one newly trained volunteers were capped during the 10th annual recognition ceremony of the area Red Cross Chapter Wednesday night at the Mary Patterson Memorial Home.

Mrs. Gladys Patterson, a former local school teacher, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Helen Bemis, assistant director of nursing at City Hospital, Mrs. Robert Hays, unit chairman of City Hospital, and Mrs. Dennis Singer, records chairman, awarded certificates.

The volunteers are: Marilyn Blower, Hilda Cole, Ruth Corray, May Craig, Alcinda Dornick, Jennie Hillyard, Judy Jackson, Kathy Johnson, Hylia London, Susan Popejoy, Edna Silverthorn, Susan Spencer, Blanche Thomas and Patti Vincent.

The class of seven hospital "Volunteers" (girls under 16 years of age) was presented to Dr. Edith Gilmore, administrator of the East Liverpool Extended Care Center, by Mrs. L. B. Lemon, unit chairman.

DR. GILMORE awarded certificates to Kathy Lee Allison, Nancy Buckley, Linda Diane Dunlevy, Annette Gibson, Debbie Scott, Shirley Sethiff and Barbara Thayer. Mrs. Floribel Allen, capped, Mrs. Albert McLain presented the pins to the girls, and Mrs. Lemon led the Volunteer Pledge.

Mrs. Hays and Mrs. Singer, presented ribbon awards for accumulated hours to Judy Jackson, Ann Ludwig, Edna Silverthorn, Connie Slates and Vicky Stewart in the 100-200 division; Debbie Lanam and Brenda Pinkerton, 200 to 300 hours; Diane Chase, Pat Hissom, Roberta Shaw and Cindy Story, 300 to 400 hours.

Mrs. Nancy Pittenger, 400 to 500 hours; Mrs. Alice Beckwell, 700 to 800 hours, and Mrs. Marge Dray, 800 to 900 hours. Miss Peggy Rose was awarded a ribbon for over 100 hours service in the Extended Care Center, with Mrs. Floribel Allen, director of nurses, making the presentation.

Dr. John Hayes, administrator at the Osteopathic Hospital, presented a silver disk to Mrs. Freda LeBritton for over 1,000 hours service; a gold disk to Mrs. Sylvia Mercer for over 2,000 hours in the Osteopathic Hospital, and a special award for the most accumulative hours of any hospital volunteer to Miss Phyllis Crook with 4,553 hours.

MRS. HAYS and Miss Crook, unit chairman of the Osteopathic Hospital, presented the hospital candidates to Miss Nell Robinson, City Hospital administrator. Miss Robinson called attention to "the youth who are self-sacrificing and desire to be of service." Dr. Hayes stated, "In these days of rising health costs, we rely more and more on volunteer help."

Charles B. Lang, chapter chairman, cited an article from the Wall Street Journal which paid tribute to the International Red Cross. He concluded by stating, "It takes people to run activities, we extend an invitation for everyone to join us."

Mrs. Patterson, introduced by Lang, has completed her 14th assignment in eight countries teaching and supervising children of military personnel on the bases. She has been assigned to Germany for the next school year, marking her third assignment in Germany.

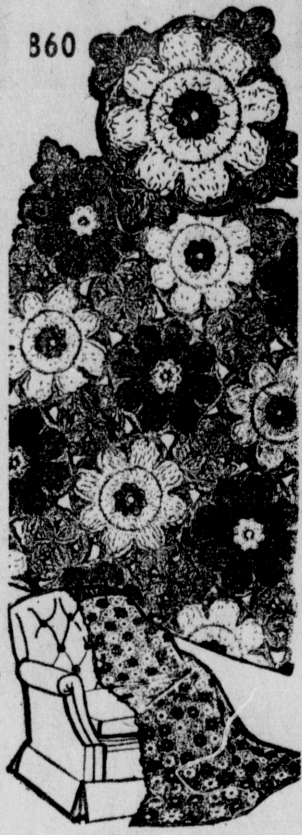

She trained and served as a Red Cross Hospital volunteer in Tachikawa Military Hospital near Tokyo, Japan, which was formerly a Japanese airbase but is now the largest U.S. military hospital in that country.

She went on to say that the hospital airstrip was prevented from being lengthened to accommodate the large planes bringing the wounded from Vietnam by Communists who buy and barricade the adjoining ground which flies the Communist flag. The badly wounded servicemen are landed at an airstrip 18 miles distant from which they have to be transported over narrow rutty roads.

She remarked that many of our wounded servicemen are anxious to return to Vietnam after convalescence because of a "they can't do this to Americans" attitude.

A MEMORIAL tribute was held for three deceased mem-

On The TV Beat

By Cecil Smith

From Beatles To Kate Smith

Last week in the Tiffany Theater on Sunset Strip, where the Committee hangs its lethal satire, the big brass of Hollywood's billion-dollar music industry gathered to see "The Music Scene."

This was not a pilot for the new 45-minute program ABC will launch in the fall sweepstakes.

"We didn't have time to make a pilot," said producer Ken Fritz. "The network gave me nine days to put together something for them to see, so we patched this together."

WHAT FRITZ and his cohorts patched together was a group of beautifully realized production numbers that originally played on the "Smothers Bros. Comedy Hour" and the Glen Campbell show, the individual numbers linked together by the savagely funny improvisational comedy of the Committee, a band of zanies who came to Hollywood from San Francisco last year and have become an institution on the Strip.

The demonstration reminded you of how well assembled from a production viewpoint that both the defunct Smothers exercise and the Campbell show always have been.

Inasmuch as Fritz was executive producer of both, the idea is that "The Music Scene" will provide these same superb production values — an idea the loud approval of the music moguls seemed to accept.

FRITZ, however, told the audience some facts of television life:

"A TV show has got to make it in its first few weeks or it's dead. If you like what you see here but you have some idea that you'll wait awhile before you commit one of your artists to the program, there may be no program. We need the strongest people we can get right from the start."

Already committed to the program are some formidable names in the music field—Lou Rawls, Blood, Sweat and Tears, Buffy St. Marie, Buck Owens, the Beatles, the Rolling Stones.

If such names sound particularly youth-oriented, it's because ABC unquestionably has aimed the Monday night program at the nation's hordes of long-haired, mini-skirted young people.

On the other hand, Fritz also dropped such names to me as Kate Smith, Tony Bennett and Fats Domino, what he called "innovators" of the modern sound.

THE SHOW has the sound to me of a contemporary version of "Your Hit Parade," but Ken said:

"The 'Hit Parade' used a repertoire company of singers doing the top songs. We won't. In each case, the artist or group who made the hit record will perform it.

"We base everything on the Billboard charts with the cooperation of Billboard magazine. But remember there are seven of these charts, each dealing with a different category of music — pop, rock, country, rhythm and blues and so on. There are charts on the top classical albums, the top comedy albums, show albums. We'll cover the entire field.

"And we'll have a place for new people not yet on the charts that we feel are coming along. And a spot for the innovators, the great figures of popular music, like Kate Smith, showing the continuity and transition in music styles.

"BUT THE EMPHASIS is on the very modern music. For that reason, we'll have no host. We'll use the most modern comedy — the Committee — to bridge and introduce the segments. Carl Gottlieb out of the Committee is our head writer; Peter Bonners and other members of the troupe will write and improvise and perform."

The 31-year-old Fritz was the "F" in KSF Productions, which launched the Smothers and Campbell shows and the fabulously successful stage production of "Hair!" here.

The company split last spring. Ken Kragen returning to personal management and Tommy Smothers, between free speech battles, serving as Campbell's executive producer. "I took 'The Music Scene,' which was an unsold idea," said Fritz. "It was a gamble but it may be the best property of them all. At least, I think so now."

Rock Analysis Aided By Giant Microscope

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's largest electron microscope will play a major role in the investigation of moon rock brought back by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

The microscope, powered by one million volts of electricity, will enable scientists to minutely probe the interior of the moon soil and rock, allowing them, it's hoped, to get a precise picture of the moon material in its natural state.

Owned by U.S. Steel Corp., the giant instrument fires a stream of electrons through the material at nearly the speed of light, allowing scientists to view and make pictures of its inner makeup.

The instrument can examine a slice of the material one ten-thousandth of an inch thick.

Newspaper Says Kennedys Expect Baby Next Year

BOSTON (AP) — Mrs. Joan Kennedy, the 32-year-old wife of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, is expecting her fourth child in February, the Boston Herald Traveler reported today.

The paper said a Kennedy family spokesman confirmed the report shortly after the Massachusetts Democrat appealed to state residents to help him decide his political future in a nationally broadcast television and radio speech.

The senator said in the speech that "reasons of health" prevented his attractive blonde wife from accompanying him last Friday to a party on Chappaquiddick Island, where Kennedy was later involved in an auto accident that killed a 28-year-old woman.

The Kennedys have three children, Kara, 9; Edward Jr., 7; and Patrick, 2.

Mrs. Kennedy has lost two children in miscarriages in July 1963, and June, 1964.

The Kennedys were married in New York in 1958.

3 Cars Damaged As Truck Drifts

Three parked cars were damaged Friday when a truck's emergency brake cable snapped and allowed it to coast backward from a parking spot on Broadway 10 feet south of E. 4th St., police reported.

The 1967 model truck owned by the Iron City Distributing Co. was blamed for damage to a 1969 sedan owned by James J. Hogue of Post Office Box 253, Irondale; a 1964 sedan owned by James Stewart of Salineville RD 2, and a 1965 sedan registered to Arnold Poynter of State Route 45, Wellsville, officers said.

Emerson A. Bartless, 27, of Rudibaugh Rd. was the driver of the distributor's truck. He told Patrolman Karl W. Samples he parked the truck on Broadway, put it in gear and set the emergency brake. The brake cable broke and allowed the rig to drift, he said.

There was extensive damage to both the front and rear of Hogue's car. The crash also damaged the front and rear bumpers, the trunk lid and the transmission of the Stewart auto and caused a small dent in the hood of the Poynter auto.

Not The Right Example!

The page one photograph in Friday's Review told a story of negligence, apathy and sickening isolation of our natural resources and community appearance.

The Broadway wharf area has never rated a gold star for scenic beauty, although a few years ago it was cleared and given benches and a tidying up which drew favorable comments from many visitors and townspeople.

Now, a site which could be made into an attractive park area, overlooking the Ohio River and surrounding hills and providing a boat landing facility, is frankly an eyesore.

The value of a public image for any city is more than just a conscious effort to attract hoppers, new residents or industry. It is also a genuine reflection of a community's own pride and confidence as demonstrated by its officials, workers and private citizens.

Junk and weeds and shabby buildings in certain parts of our city are testimony to neglect in the part of property owners, and the municipal wharf, administered by the City Park Commission, is not the kind of example to be set in upgrading our community image.

We hope to publish a photograph in two weeks which will reveal some real interest and enterprise on the part of those officials responsible.

Happy Birthday

If anyone had asked us in the middle of April about Paul McCraw's chances of observing his 10th birthday, we would have had a sad prediction.

The tiny East End youngster, who had undergone a kidney transplant, was in critical condition and was fast slipping into final stages of life.

But physicians were able to detect the faulty kidney tube, correct the connection and today Paul is home and eager to enter the second decade of a promising life.

We join with the thousands of others in the tri-state area who have watched with real concern Paul's progress and who have contributed to this "turn for the better" with cards and donations in wishing him a happy birthday and many more of 'em.

Future Investments

The Nixon administration has made two significant symbolic moves to thaw relations with Red China.

The steps include relaxation of restrictions on trade and travel in Communist China which have been in effect for nearly two decades.

Travelers now are permitted to bring back to the United States up to $100 worth of goods produced in mainland China.

Also, the ban on travel in the Communist country has been lifted for scholars, students, scientists, physicians and newsmen.

THE U.S. GOVERNMENT made it clear the attempt to cut away some of the isolationist veil around Red China was a unilateral American move and was taken without consultation with the Chinese.

American officials are not even expecting much to come of the steps in the way of direct response from the Communist Chinese.

Robert J. McCloskey, State Department spokesman, said: "We have no hostile intentions against Communist China. We hope that Peking will come to realize that fact. But on the basis of past performance, we would not be surprised if these present decisions were dismissed out of hand."

So where is the value in the policy?

Whether we like Red China or not, it exists.

A Show Of Solidarity

There has been considerable speculation that the Vietnam war critics in this country are primarily responsible for the Hanoi government's belief that they ultimately can achieve victory by eroding the United States' willingness to continue fighting.

Charges to this effect have been leveled at the most outspoken doves.

In conjunction with these charges have come urgings for the war critics to show a solid stand against the North Vietnamese in their intransigence at the Paris talks.

One of the better known Republican war critics, Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, has heeded these pleas. He rose Tuesday in the Senate to deliver a message intended for the ears of Ho Chi Minh in which he asserted that a majority of the American people do not support unilateral withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. In explaining his action, Sen. Percy said he is convinced the Hanoi government is misreading American public sentiment and thus delaying negotiations in Paris, hoping for a pullout.

The senator said: "We want the world, and particularly Hanoi, to know that we are solidly behind the efforts of the President to negotiate a settlement in Paris." Seven other senators supported Sen. Percy in his comments.

It is to be hoped that Ho Chi Minh will take note of Sen. Percy's words. They should give him some cause to reflect.

"Eagle, I told you to give her her socks and leave her alone."

"You always take her side, Mission Control."

"Mission Control, this is Tranquility Base. What's all the excitement about?"

"I want you to brush your teeth, make your bed and come DOWN FOR BREAKFAST. Is that asking too much?"

"OK, Mission Control." OK."

"And you're going to get a haircut today, too."

"Are you finished, Mission Control?"

"No, the President wants to speak to you."

Space Impact Will Stay

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The impact of Apollo 11 will be with us for the rest of our lives.

Probably no one has been more affected by it than our children. In my family, for example, the children now refer to their mother as Mission Control. One girl is Eagle, the other girl is Columbia and the boy has taken the name Tranquility Base.

This is how the conversation has been going on the house intercom system.

"Hello, Eagle. This is your Mission Control. You still haven't made your bed."

"Roger, Mission Control. I seem to be having some trouble with my hi-fi record machine. Can you advise me if I can play it manually?"

"AFFIRMATIVE, EAGLE. But do not — repeat — do not turn on your hi-fi machine until you have made your bed."

"You're coming in loud and clear, Mission Control. I'll make the bed after breakfast."

"I said to make it now. You're programmed to make your bed and then eat breakfast. By the way, I seem to be having trouble communicating with Tranquility Base. Could you check and see if he is out of bed?"

"Hello, Mission Control. This is Eagle. Have made contact with Tranquility Base but he says he doesn't want to get up. He told me to blast off."

"Eagle, this is Mission Control. Inform him that if he doesn't get out of bed this minute his father will be up there and fire off several rockets south of his equator."

"OK, Mission Control, I read you."

"MISSION CONTROL, this is Columbia.

Next Stop Mars?

An Editorial Research Report

Now that man has set foot on the moon, should he set his sights on Mars?

Vice President Agnew suggested on the day of the Apollo 11 lift-off that the United States undertake a manned expedition to the red planet by the end of the century. Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said on CBS television, July 21, that such a flight might be feasible well before 1999.

But post-Apollo euphoria should not obscure the immense difficulties of sending men to Mars. The planet is around 5 million miles from earth. A round trip, at speeds now attainable, would take at least nine months. Far more powerful rockets and much improved guidance and life-support systems would be required for an expedition to Mars. And development costs would be correspondingly great.

MARS NEVERTHELESS remains an inviting target. It is the one planet that holds any promise of supporting life as we know it. Venus is closer to earth than Mars but unmanned flights indicate that the Venerian atmosphere of carbon dioxide is roughly 100 times as dense as that of earth and that surface temperatures run as high as 800 degrees—the melting point of lead.

The other planets in the solar system appear unreachable by manned flight for decades to come. At 25,009 miles an hour or seven miles a second, the approximate speed of Apollo 11, it would take more than two years to reach Jupiter and more than 16 years to reach Pluto. To reach Alpha Centauri, the star nearest to the sun, would take 100,000 years.

A nuclear-powered rocket conceivably could build up a speed of 700 miles a second. Even then, however, a round-trip to Alpha Centauri would last 2,000 years.

The ultimate speed beyond which no man can go, Einstein's theory of relativity holds, is 186,000 miles per second—the speed of light.

Suppose, though, that a way is found to travel in space at the speed of light. It would still take 4.3 years to reach Alpha Centauri and 100,000 years to traverse the galaxy from end to end.

The theory of relativity would seem to confine man's space activities to the solar system. However, Gerald Feinberg of Columbia University suggested last year that Einstein's theory may be incomplete.

As Isaac Asimov recently explained in Holiday, Feinberg "pointed out that if the speed of light was viewed as an impenetrable limiting wall, then it might be argued that a wall has two sides. On the other side of that wall there might exist a whole universe of particles that could only move faster than the speed of light and could never slow down below that speed."

These superfast particles he called "tachyons," from the Greek word meaning "swift."

ASIMOV GOES ON to question whether it is necessary to send a massive object such as a spaceship and its crew through space. Might it not someday be possible, he asks, to reduce matter to a beam of photons or of tachyons and transmit it into space to be reassembled at some receiving point?

A beam of tachyons, assuming such particles exist, could reach the nearest star in five seconds and the most distant galaxies within a week.

All of the foregoing hypotheses boggle the mind of the layman and presumably of the scientist as well. It all seems impossible. But so did a journey to the moon until the 1960s.

Thoughts For The Day

We have this as a sure and steadfast anchor of the soul, a hope that enters into the inner shrine behind the curtain.—Hebrews 6:19.

Our humanity were a poor thing were it not for the divinity that slirs within us. — Sir Francis Bacon, English essayist and philosopher.

A fool gives full vent to his anger, but a wise man quietly holds it back.—Proverb 29:11.

The size of a man can be measured by the size of the thing that makes him angry. — J. K. Morley, English statesman and writer.

How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him who brings good tidings, who publishes peace, who brings good tidings of good, who publishes salvation, who says to Zion, "Your God reigns." — Isaiah 52:7.

I prefer the most unfair peace to the most righteous war.—Marcus Cicero, Roman orator.

I shall grow old, but never lose life's zest, because the road's last turn will be the best.—Henry Van Dyke, American clergyman.

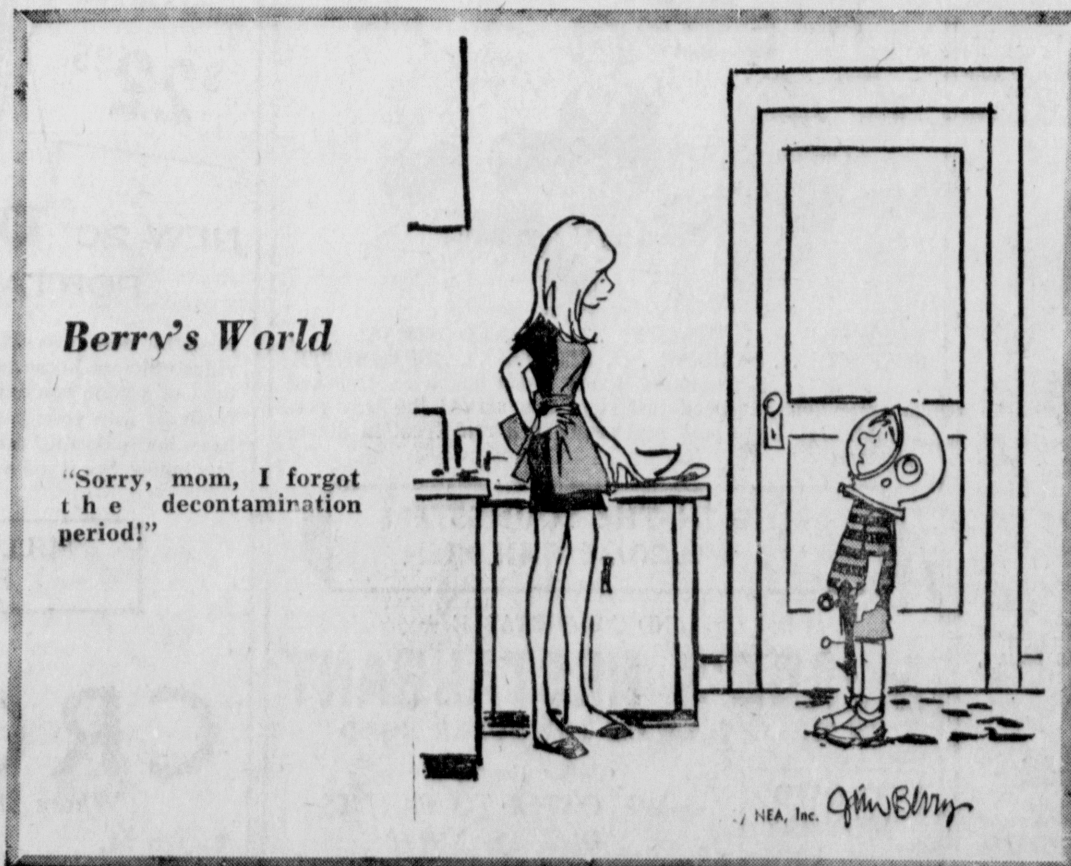

Brethren, do not be children in your thinking; be babes in evil, but in thinking be mature.—I Cor. 14:20.

Men are wise in proportion not to their experience but to their capacity for experience.—George Bernard Shaw, Irish dramatist.

The university is centered on neither the earth nor the sun. It is centered on God. — Alfred Noyes, English novelist.

Owe no one anything, except to love one another; for he who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law.—Romans 13:8.

Let there be no filthiness, nor silly talk, nor levity, which are not fitting; but instead let there be thanksgiving.—Ephesians 5:4.

The Attack On Incomes

WASHINGTON — Is Congress warming up to some of the doctrines of communism—the enemy of private capitalism—by taking away from citizens the billions of dollars which they would normally use to help maintain and build up free enterprise in America?

This question may well be asked in view of the announced determination of several members of Congress to impose on the earnings of successful citizens higher income taxes than have ever been levied before.

Much is being said also about plans to reduce the deductions of upper-income persons in their contributions to charity. Where will the philanthropic institutions then get the money of which they will be deprived by the government?

The discriminatory nature of the attack on high incomes is based largely on demagoguery—the old-time cry of politicians about "soaking the rich."

BUT ESTIMATES BASED ON the latest Treasury statistics available show that, of nearly 72 million tax returns filed, the number of taxable incomes of $100,000 or more for married couples and $50,000 or more for single persons is only 82,000.

Out of their taxable income of $14 billion a year, the government already is subtracting $7 billion from this sum.

Even if this category of citizens was subjected to a 100 per cent tax on their incomes above these levels, the government would get only $3 billion more, and all of these taxpayers combined would have $4 billion left. The other 58,600,000 taxpayers, who provide the government with $73 billion, would retain $303 billion.

There is every likelihood that to impose higher tax rates and alter the rules for deductions may result in a drag on economic growth and the impairment of investment incentives.

One of the interesting things about the $50,000 income today is that it is by no means comparable in purchasing power to that same sum of money 10 years ago.

Much of the personal property which now has a higher sales value brings a price of more dollars but with a purchasing power not very far above what could have been bought with the dollars originally paid.

Stocks obtained, for instance, 10 years ago for $5,000 might be sold in 1969 for $10,000. But after paying the capital-gains tax of $1,250 and taking into account the loss in purchasing power as compared with 1959, the net amount retained is $7,000. This means that the real gain was only $2,000 or an average of 4 per cent a year.

There is some merit, of course, in imposing capital-gains taxes on property held for less than a year, as differentiated from long-term holdings. As a matter of fact, what Congress ought to be thinking about is how to give the citizen a "capital-loss" deduction.

It is not clear yet what changes will be included in the tax-reform bill being drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee but an announcement Thursday by Sen. Russell Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, reveals that a bill may not be passed much before Oct. 31.

This implies that the extension of the surtax will continue to be an unsettled matter. To keep the country in doubt for a period of three months on what the tax rates will be is not a constructive policy.

Already universities which receive large donations are complaining and are asking their alumni to fight the proposed restrictions to be made on deductions for charitable gifts of property which have risen in value.

IF, FOR EXAMPLE, the capital-gains rules are changed, a prospective donor will have to pay out more in taxes and may decide that he better wait a few years until there is some further revision of the tax laws before he makes the contribution.

Probably the most serious impact will be felt by businesses which need to raise money either to start new enterprises or extend present operations. To impose higher tax rates on the appreciation of property is bound to be a disturbing development that will be widely felt.

Those who have accumulated funds are, in effect, being discouraged from making the kind of investments that have for so long built up and maintained the capitalistic system.

corruption, an active opposition and military forays by Communist-inspired Huk guerrillas.

Involved in a campaign for re-election this fall, Marcos is almost certain to benefit from the Nixon visit. His opponent is a onetime political ally, Sen. Sergio Osmena Jr.

Osmena lost political points recently on a private trip to the United States when he failed to get an appointment with Nixon. Marcos used diplomatic influence to insure that, one official said.

Wishing to appear neutral during his visit, although he is staying at the presidential palace and sleeping in a bed vacated by Marcos, Nixon set aside time in Manila for a hotel-suite meeting with Osmena.

The most recent visit to Manila by a U.S. president was that of Lyndon B. Johnson in 1966. At that time, antiwar demonstrators stormed Johnson's hotel and were repulsed in bloody clashes with troops and police.

Kennedy

And the swim seemed to raise more new questions instead of quieting old ones.

Kennedy appeared on national television on the same day he pleaded guilty in court to leaving the scene of an accident. A two-month sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year.

The senator said his failure to report the accident immediately was "indefensible." He said he was confused, tortured, tired. He indicated he still did not remember all that happened in the nine-hour period.

In Berkeley Heights, N.J., the mother of the victim, Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, came out onto a neighbor's front porch after the broadcast to say in a halting voice "I am satisfied with the senator's statement—and do hope he decides to stay in the Senate."

Republicans Silent
Kennedy's fellow Democrats hailed the speech. Republicans were generally silent.

Until the accident, Kennedy, the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate as assistant majority leader, had been regarded as a front-runner for the 1972 nomination for the presidency—the prize that brought his two brothers to violent death.

Kennedy's speech was his first explanation beyond a brief statement to police last Saturday.

It still left unanswered these key questions:
—Why Kennedy was on the dirt road leading to the narrow wooden bridge where his car plunged into a salt-water inlet?
The senator told police he made a wrong turn driving Miss Kopechne to the island ferry after a reunion party. At a T-intersection, the only paved road on the island turns left toward the ferry and is marked with an arrow; the dirt road goes right. In the television speech, he made no mention at all of the turn.

'Confused, In Shock'
—What happened when he plunged into the water to swim from the island to Edgartown?

Kennedy said two friends, Joseph Gargan and Paul Markham, had helped him dive for Miss Kopechne after the accident. He said he was confused and in shock. Kennedy said they took him to the ferry landing and he suddenly jumped into the water to begin swimming, almost drowning in the crossing.

Did Gargan and Markham watch his struggle without telephoning authorities for help? Or, if they had left and were unaware of the swim, weren't they concerned about where the troubled Kennedy had gone? Why did they take no apparent action that would have summoned officials?

Gargan, who is Kennedy's cousin, and Markham could not be reached for comment.

Response

McGovern hoped Kennedy "will have the strength to put this tragedy behind him and to continue the brilliant career I believe history has marked for him."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine added, "I think it was the story of a man of integrity of character, and I would expect the people of Massachusetts to give him full support."

The expressions of support ranged from Mary Jo's mother, Mrs. Joseph Kopechne, to farm worker leader Cesar Chavez to a Cincinnati, Ohio, woman who said she only watched part of the Kennedy broadcast and turned it off. "I guess I have a soft spot in my heart for him," she said.

Kansas City restaurant owner Lloyd Mayhan: "Put yourself in his place. You don't know what you would do. I'd vote for him."

No bearing on a presidential race, said Donnie L. Trammel of Atlanta, "I feel he should be elected on his political record and his basic record of service to the people."

some of the doctors and nurses who have befriended him during his hospital stay that began in November.

Some of the doctors and nurses are scheduled to leave the hospital for other posts and the boy wanted to make recordings of their voices to help him remember them, the mother explained.

Mrs. McCraw said Paul is bright and cheerful, staging a remarkable recovery from the disease that came very close to claiming his life. The new kidney "is working perfectly," his mother said.

"Anyone who sees the big smile on his face will know how much better he feels," she said.

He was permitted to leave the hospital for the birthday celebration. Since he cannot remain away from the hospital overnight, his mother brought him home Friday, took him back to the hospital again Friday evening, and then made another trip to Pittsburgh this morning to bring him home for the party this afternoon.

"A lot of people called here to ask about his recovery and his birthday after they read about the party in the newspaper yesterday," Mrs. McCraw said.

Paul will attend a wiener roast this afternoon at 3, marking the conclusion of a Daily Vacation Bible School at the church pastored by his parents. And at 6 there will be a surprise birthday party for the youngster, arranged by his family.

Mrs. McCraw stopped at a bakery yesterday afternoon to obtain a cake for the party.

When the proprietor learned it was for Paul, he made her a gift of a sheet cake and candles and decorated the cake with the legend: "Happy Birthday, Paul."

"I've read about that little fellow," he told the mother. "The cake is a gift from me."

Czechs Restrict Visits From West

PRAGUE (AP)—Czechoslovak authorities have begun restricting entrance to the country by Western students and journalists because of a possibility of demonstrations in August, the anniversary of the Soviet invasion, diplomatic sources reported Friday.

The informants said students are no longer being issued visas at the frontiers and applications at Czechoslovak embassies are being held up. Czechoslovak sources said the entry of foreign newsmen is being restricted for the rest of the summer.

The action was reported only one day after the Prague government issued a statement saying no new restrictions were planned against tourists.

I PETER
2:24

There has never been a greater message for mankind than the message of salvation. In one verse the Apostle Peter summarizes this great story of salvation. 1 Pet. 2:24 "Who his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree, that we, being dead to sins, should live unto righteousness: by whose stripes ye are healed."

First, Peter points out the fact that it is our sins that have made necessary the great sacrifice of Christ. We are guilty of sin against God. Paul states in Rom. 3:23 that we all sin and fall short of the glory of God. Every person who is old enough and who has the mental power to understand God's Word, is held responsible for committing those things that are contrary to God's Will. Since we all are guilty of sin, we stand in need of a way to escape. Mankind could not provide that way for himself. He did not have a way of coming out of sins.

The second point that Peter makes in the verse is that Christ took our sins upon himself. He took them to the cross so that you and I could be saved. This is the great message of salvation. When we realize that we are lost and that we have no hope in this lost condition, we should rejoice greatly that God so loved us to give his only son for us.

A third point that we can see is the fact that God did not intend for us to continue in sin after He gave His Son to die for us. The verse says that we should be dead to sin. When we repent of our sins (Lk. 13:3) and confess our faith in the Son of God (Rom. 10:10) and then are baptized for the remission of all of our past sins (Acts 2:38) God wants us to stay away from sins. He wants us to be dead to sins. God did not save us from the "pool of sins" to have us turn right around and dive back in again.

The fourth point that we would like to observe in this verse is the fact that the one who has been saved from his sins of the past is intended by God to live unto righteousness. Righteousness means right doing. God wants us to be busy doing His Will. The Christian shows his great appreciation to God for salvation by living the rest of his life in an all-out effort to please God.

There is no greater message of salvation. This is the great theme of the Bible. This is the reason that those who really understand their hopeless condition without Christ, rejoice greatly to hear the "old story of the cross of Christ". Have you taken advantage of the salvation provided by Christ?

Diocese Makes Holy Days Study

A survey to determine the attitudes of priests, religious and laity concerning holy days of obligation is being conducted in the Youngstown Diocese.

The study, which was recommended by a special committee appointed by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops is being sent to every priest in the diocese, 50 religious and 1,000 laymen.

The survey questions concern five of the six holy days on the liturgical calendar of the United States. The feast of Christmas is excluded.

In a letter accompanying the survey, the Most Rev. James W. Malone, bishop of Youngstown, explains the survey. He says:

"The National Conference of Catholic Bishops has been examining the question of obligatory holy days in the United States.

"There are two fundamental choices: either retain the holy days as they are or change the existing legislation. If the choice is to change the legislation, then the decision must be made either to eliminate the obligation requiring participation at Mass, but keeping the feast, or transfer the celebration of the feast to a near and appropriate Sunday. This choice must be made for each of the holy days."

Ohio

was cast by Republican Sen. Walter Powell of Fairfield.

The vote was 32-1. Powell said he objected prim-arily to a $35 million alloca-tion for parochial and private schools.

The bill now goes back to the House for its concurrence on 85 Senate amendments. The pro-cess is expected to take a week. The bill, the largest educa-tional package in Ohio history, calls for tax increases in four areas including cigarettes and liquor.

Sen. Minority Leader Charley J. Carney, D - 33 Youngstown said it taxed the person who could least afford it — "Joe Consumer."

Carney led the Democratic attack to change the measure. His proposal to remove all tax-es in favor of a five per cent income tax on corporations was down along party lines, 21-12.

Carney and fellow Democrats demanded and received roll call votes on 15 different items in the bill.

Although they then voted for most of them individually, it enabled Democrats to go on record for items they liked and against those they didn't.

Tax increases provided by the bill are:

—Three cents a pack of cig-arettes to bring in $68.2 million over the two years.

—One per cent on public uti-lities to bring in $46 million.

Robin Finds A Home

Bird In The Hand

Jimmy Vernaccini, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Vernac-cini of Beacon Way, Dix-onville, has a new friend by the name of "Sam."

Sam is a robin that Jimmy and his sisters, Paula, 13, and Patty, 7, found July 4. The bird didn't seem to be hurt, but appeared very weak, so the Vernaccini children took it home and fed it.

Since then they have kept it in a cage. They plan to feed it until it seems strong enough to fend for itself.

Jimmy says it eats worms, bread crumbs and a little bit of everything they feed it. Sam appears to be listening when you talk, and isn't fright-ened by people. In fact, he "hammed it up" for the cam-era.

Housing Board's Action

Income Levels Boosted, Rents Set For 'High-Rise'

The Columbiana Metropolitan Housing Authority has boosted the maximum income permis-sible for applicants for apart-ments in its 130-unit "high-rise" complex in West End and has decided to set up a flat schedule of rents, rather than basing the charges on income, as was the original plan.

Provided they're otherwise qualified, the rentals in the de-velopment for the elderly will be open to single persons with a maximum annual income of $3,100 and to couples whose re-ceipts from all sources do not exceed $4,400.

The previous rules set a max-imum of $2,600 in annual income for a single person and $3,600 for a couple.

THE HOUSING authority has set the "flat rate" rent sched-ule at $39 per month for each of 87 efficiencies and $42 per month for the 42 one-bedroom apartments.

Under the prior rule, the rents would have varied according to income and the size of the unit.

Merrill D. Hall, executive di-rector of the housing authority, said the rental will cover all utilities, including electricity, heat, water and sewage. The renter will be required to pay his own telephone charges and will be billed extra if he in-stalls an air - conditioner in his apartment. The building will be served by a master tele-vision antenna so that an outside connection will not be required for each apartment. Each apart-ment will have a telephone jack. The building will have hot wa-ter baseboard heat.

The minimum age for admis-sion to the development will be 62. In the case of a couple, the age requirement will apply to the head of the household, whether it's the man or the wife, Hall said. The head of the house is the person who earns the family's income, he pointed out. The wife sometimes is considered the head of the household if she works and sup-ports a disabled husband, he explained.

APPROXIMATELY 220 appli-cants have been filed for space in the 11-story structure, called Fawcett Apartments. But many of the applicants probably will be ruled ineligible, primarily be-cause they reside outside the East Liverpool corporate limits. The authority rules require that priority will be given qualified applicants who reside in the city proper. Requirements on age or limitations on income may dis-qualify others.

The authority expects the building will be ready for oc-cupancy some time late this fall, if everything goes accord-ing to schedule. The exterior of the building proper has been completed and work is being pushed on the interior finishing. The project began in August 1968.

Hall said the switch to a flat-rate rent schedule has been ap-proved by the Chicago regional office of the Department of Housing and Urban Develop-ment, which guaranteed the loan for the project.

Work also is proceeding on the authority's 130-unit complex to provide housing for low-in-come families. It is being erect-ed on a big tract off Maine Blvd. Completion is expected next spring. The job began in April.

Hall said the authority may begin to accept applications soon for the Maine Blvd. project. He emphasized that no pets will be permitted in either of the developments.

Officers Nab Man Sought In Shooting

A man sought since Wednes-day in a shooting incident at Wellsville is confined to the Col-umbiana County Jail at Lisbon awaiting arraignment on charges of assault with attempt to kill.

Herman Winfred "Bob" Don-ahue of Wellsville was appre-hended in a wooded area near Tomlinson Run State Park on W. Va. Route 8 about 11:32 a.m. Friday by Hancock County sher-iff's deputies.

The capture came after Mrs. Donahue was halted while driv-ing the suspect's car near the intersection of Rts. 2 and 8. Deputies began tailing the auto after receiving a radio call from Chester police, who had recog-nized the vehicle from a descrip-tion provided by Wellsville police.

Officers convinced Mrs. Don-ahue to take them to the hiding place.

Deputies said Donahue "sur-rendered with his hands in the air and offered no resistance." Combined action of police and deputies from Ohio and West Virginia resulted in the apprehension.

Following capture, Donahue signed waivers of extradition be-fore Squire John D. Herron at New Cumberland and was turned over to Wellsville police.

Involved in the actual ap-prehension were Hancock County sheriff's deputies Arnie Durham, Thomas Tompos, Howard Smith and Danny Minor and Chester Police Chief William Cornell and Harold Ash, Chester mayor.

A Fat Response

SEATTLE (AP) — The Uni-versity of Washington says it took six telephone operators to handle the traffic after the uni-versity issued a call for women 20 per cent overweight to volun-teer for a six-week weight-loss project. The program is based on controlled eating rather than crash dieting.

Boy, 9, Hurt When Bicycle And Auto Hit

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon are searching for a hit-skip driver involved in an accident in which a 9-year-old bicycle rider was injured and admitted to City Hospital Friday.

The patrol said John F. March, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony March of Center Rd., was riding his bicycle east on the Campground Rd. and went into the side of a car traveling south on Shadyside Ave.

Witnesses said the car was a 1958 black and white Chevrolet Biscayne. Two boys were in the car and, according to witness-es, looked back, but drove on.

They said the boys appeared to be about 16 to 18.

The March boy is "fair" with a deep laceration of the scalp and left elbow. The accident oc-curred about 2 p.m.

Meanwhile, three members of a Wellsville area family were treated at City Hospital and re-leased for injuries received in a truck-car collision on Sprouse Rd., just south of the old Iron-dale Rd. Friday at 12:05 p.m.

Mrs. Margaret I. Joy, 34, of the old Irondale Rd. was driv-ing north and John W. Swales, 22, of Ravenna was driving a 1966 milk truck south when the vehicles, both left of center, col-lided.

Mrs. Joy was treated for a possible fracture of the jaw. A son, Thomas Lee Joy, 6, was treated for contusions of the forehead. A daughter, Pamela Joy, 10, complained of injuries but apparently was not treated.

A minor two-car accident was investigated on the Calcutta-Smiths Ferry Rd. Friday at 7:20 a.m. Bernard W. Waters, 18, of RD 2 halted his 1964 con-vertible at a stop sign at the intersection of Route 170 and then backed into a car oper-ated by Glenn A. Wilson, 36, of RD 3.

Mrs. Judith Stitt Speaks

Lions Are Given Outline Of Health Clinic's Work

"People seem to feel a cer-tain safety in coming to an agency because they know their information will be held in con-fidence," Mrs. Judith Stitt, a social worker for the Columbi-ana County Mental Health Clin-ic in Lisbon, told members of the Lions Club Friday.

"We are interested in the per-sons problems and the patient can talk about these problems, knowing that is our only con-cern," she added.

MRS. STITT said the most amazing thing about her job is that so few people seem to know the clinic exists. She has been associated with it for two years. Before that time she was a social worker for the County Welfare Department.

"We have patients from four years of age to 95," she pointed out.

Donald Roberts is director and does individual counseling. In addition there is a psychi-atrist present one day a week, a psychologist, who does a lot of testing, two interns from Kent State University under a training program and several social workers on a part-time basis.

"Anyone can make a referral or can walk into the clinic. We work with many persons who have minor emotional and oth-er problems. Our aim is to get to the problem as soon as possi-ble so it doesn't require a long treatment."

"More than half of our pa-tients are children. With small children, it may be a thumb sucking problem or something like this. In a case of this kind we work with the parents."

"We work with school stu-dents. Sometimes they are stu-ffered by the schools. We do a lot of testing for placement pur-poses, such as retardation and determining if a child should be in a school for retarded or re-ceiving special education if it is available.

"Sometimes the students have a particular school phobia with which we can help them cope."

"In adolescent children," she continued, "we have delinquen-cy problems, court cases or shyness and backwardness. De-linquency cases are mostly boys, but not all."

"IN CASES of extreme shy-ness, this is a behavioral prob-lem that may not have been caught at an earlier age."

"To help a patient, they must have the motivation to want help. This is the key word."

"We also do an extensive amount of marriage counseling, and in this we insist both par-ents become involved."

"Our patients are outpatients. We can help the chronically ill and patients who may have been sent home from Woodside Receiving Hospital, but who are on medication and need checkups."

"A nominal fee is charged, based on what a person can af-ford. No patient is denied help, however, because he or she cannot afford it."

"Other parts of our program include group therapy and hyp-nosis. The psychiatrist actually sees few of the people," she concluded.

President Fred Yonz announ-ced that Jack Kelly was home from the hospital and that Randy Kane, son of Fred Kane, had undergone another operation Wednesday and is still confined to the Pittsburgh Eye and Ear Hospital.

Keith Clutter was a guest.

An Artist In Wood

By CLARA HALL

Photographs By Robert Duffy

With a life busier than a cranberry counter, Kenneth Persohn of 53 Campground Rd., still finds time for the interesting hobby of sculpturing.

When he was in grade school, Ken used to watch his grandfather, Bill Perry, whittling and it intrigued him. He decided he wanted to learn, bought a knife and started practicing. After about eight years, he was able to carve most of the things whittlers do—wooden chains, a ball in a box and jointed sticks. Venturing into more difficult objects, he soon was able to whittle small figures of angles, animals, and men and free forms.

Persohn's hobby was abandon during World War II with his service in the Marine Corps at Midway Island and later in the Korean conflict although this time he did not go overseas.

Resuming his sculpturing as a civilian, he attempted more intricate art pieces. The first large one was a torso carved in osage orange about 18 inches high. He used a wood chisel and mallet for this. Several smaller objects about 8 inches tall were carved from redwood, birch and pine with a chisel.

KEN DOES most of his sculpturing during vacations and his free evenings, a couple of hours at a time. The first pieces were slow hard work, but as he continued to learn carving with more finesse, it naturally became easier and faster. Most pieces are cut from log sections which he has obtained in the woods on the Perry Farm.

Hard woods such as walnut, oak, cherry and some types of maple, finish up much better with a smoother surface than the soft woods — redwood, pine, and osage orange.

When looking at a piece of wood, Persohn visualizes what could be carved from it. Once an idea has formed, he starts cutting without using a drawing or model in most cases. Where shapes are hard to imagine, he makes a clay model, but this has been done only a few times.

In roughing out a piece, he sometimes uses a hatchet or saw, but more often he employs a variety of chisels in different widths. Once a piece is finished with a chisel, it can be sanded if a smooth finish is desired. Some of mushrooms in various stages of growth. It was a year or so before he got around to completing it.

The most recent works are a couple of items in locust, a very hard wood which makes a slow and difficult process. He hopes to do a full size modern figure in walnut in the near future, and has the log all ready for the transition.

With a number of new ideas in mind for some future sculpturing, he also has a piece of granite with which he plans to work. Although he likes to paint and draw, he prefers carving in his spare time.

Several of his carvings have been on display at the Carnegie Library here and at the Butler Art Institute in Youngstown. He doesn't plan to sell any of his works, just keeps them as decorative pieces around the home.

Persohn declares, "I think sculpturing can be very rewarding, it can take your mind off the cares of the world and give you an incentive to create at the same time."

KEN WAS graduated from East Liverpool High School and attended the University of Pittsburgh and West Virginia University and Bethany College. A graduate of Geneva College, he teaches sixth grade science and math at Edison Local School where he served as president of the Teacher's Association.

He is an active member of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church where he is an elder, trustee and Sunday School teacher. He was instrumental in the installation of many additions to the new church, and is very active member of the volunteer work group which cares for the grounds and landscaping.

And in his spare time (his days must have 30 hours) he likes to golf and play tennis and does construction work on the side. He also is a qualified Red Cross life guard.

Ken is married to the former Evelyn Jones, a substitute teacher in the local school system. They have two daughters, Mrs. Terry Weis of Columbus, who has a son, Billy Christopher, and Mrs. Denise Martin, who lives near Ft. Knox, Ky., where her husband, Spec. 4 James Martin is stationed with the Engineer Corps.

He is the son of Mrs. Nell Persohn of Campground Rd. and the late John Joseph Persohn.

FOOD FAVORITES

Intense interest in "soul food" comes as a surprise to families who have more than a speaking acquaintance with ham and beans, cornbread, collard greens, pecan pie and everything pork, except the squeal.

Cooking with soul, if you will, is as indigenous to this country as jazz and the blues. Its origin may be from the Deep South where historically a vast majority of the cooks were Negro, for black or white families.

Soul food, as daily dishes are now called, was simple, inexpensive, plentiful and cooked with a lot of heart.

Its appeal stems from the southern welcome where "the pot is always waiting," according to Ruth L. Gaskins of Alexandria, Va., author of "A Good Heart and a Light Hand." "It is this pot on the stove that gives soul to the Negro welcome."

In addition to Mrs. Gaskins' collection, there are "Soul Food Recipes," Port Washington (New York) Community Relations Council, Inc.; "Soul Cooking," Scotta Tymas, Crisnot Associates, N. Y.; "Soul Food Cookery," Inez Yeargan Kaiser, Pittman Publ. Corp., N. Y.; "Cooking with Soul," Ethel Brown Hearon, Rutus King High School, Milwaukee, Wis.

Barbecue Spareribs

2 sides (4 to 6 pounds) spareribs
Salt
Pepper
1 cup ketchup
½ cup dark corn syrup
½ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup finely chopped onions
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup prepared mustard
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon Tabasco

Sprinkle ribs with salt and pepper and place in a large kettle. Add water to cover, bring to boil, reduce heat and simmer covered 1 to 1½ hours or until ribs are fork tender. Meanwhile, combine ketchup, corn syrup, vinegar, onion, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, salt and Tabasco in a saucepan. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil over medium heat.

Reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Drain ribs. Brush both sides generously with sauce. Grill about 6 inches from source of heat, basting frequently, about 10 minutes on each side or until browned. If desired, heat remaining sauce and serve with ribs. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Outdoor Notes

By Harry L. Stewart

Nighttime bass fishing should be at its peak the next few weeks on area lakes and streams. When the hot days arrive, the cool nights produce the best fishing results.

Fish head for the depths when the sun boils down. They will hide under moss, beneath weed beds and other cover. They do this for comfort because it's cooler there. Also, where there is aquatic growth, there is abundant oxygen.

Just like humans fish seek shade. When the sun sets, they begin feeding, moving out into the open water.

They will feed during the night all through the "dog day" period.

Try surface baits after night. Jitterbugs, poppers or anything that makes a commotion on the surface.

In the early evening, try a plastic worm on the bottom — fish slowly, very slowly.

For those who like to fish for catfish at night, try a big hunk of shrimp on the bottom. Set out a couple of lanterns. These attract bugs and the insects in turn attract fish.

SPACE LITTER. It is odd to note that man has made a successful moon voyage, but in doing so was required to become a litterbug. Much equipment was left when the astronauts completed their mission.

It was necessary to abandon the landing section, cameras and other items of gear on the space craft because of the weight problem involved. Ironically, though, to think that our first venture onto such virgin terrain must be marked by man's old problem of litter.

CAMPFIRE — Like the ethos of the ancient Greeks, the camper's universe is based on the four elements of earth, air, fire and water. Of these, fire (obviously) is the least essential but by far the most dangerous.

But what the heck is a camp without a fire?

If you spend most of your camping holiday in public campgrounds, you will have few occasions to build a real campfire. Probably, you'll have to use the ready-made fireplaces. But this is a reasonable rule, designed for your own safety as much as anything else.

You would be wise, in any event, to carry a good supply of charcoal briquets. They're quite efficient and easier to manage. Besides, firewood runs from scarce to nonexistent.

However, if you plan to seek the quieter, more remote camping areas — where a good campfire is possible (and desirable) — here are a few tips to make your trip more fun and safer:

At the outset, keep in mind that a big, roaring fire is pretty to sit around while plunking the guitar, but it's useless for cooking. Eons ago, the Indians taught the white man that a small, neat fire is best.

TRY TO BUILD your fires so that prevailing winds carry the smoke away from the tent and food preparation area. (Of course, the wind will shift as soon as you start the fire, but that's part of having fun, fun, fun in the Great Out-of-Doors.)

Scrape away all leaves, twigs and combustible humus from the fire site. Humus may be several inches deep, so dig down to bare dirt. In rocky areas, collect enough rocks to form a ring around the fire pit. Whatever you do, remember that a fire must be well-ventilated to burn properly.

In dry weather, twigs and leaves make dandy kindling. If the wood is wet, you'll need to use some ingenuity. Remove the bark from a dead limb, getting down to dry wood. Shave this with a knife until you have several fuzzy balls.

Always use dry wood until the fire really gets going. Then add green, wet wood. Start with small twigs and build up to thick limbs or logs.

Before you start cooking, let the wood burn down to a mound of red-hot coals. Feed small amounts of wood to it thereafter. Coals are much better to cook over than a high blaze.

Setting utensils down in the fire is a poor way to operate. Carry a metal grid (such as an old refrigerator shelf) to use as a grill.

And, finally: Don't build your fire under low branches; watch flying sparks on windy days and in dry weather, and always — but always — douse your fire thoroughly with water when you're through. Better still, bury it with wet sand.

DOG TRAINING. Sportsmen are reminded that Pennsylvania's dog training season will open Aug. 1.

Dogs may be trained from sunrise to 10 p.m. through Oct. 25, and from sunrise to 9 p.m. from Oct. 26 through March 31.

Raccoon dogs may be trained until 1 a.m. from Aug. 1 through Oct. 25, and until midnight from Oct. 26 through March 31.

To train dogs legally on Sunday the consent of the owner of the land where such training is done must first be secured except in the case of state and national forest lands.

Trainers are reminded that the carrying of a rifle or shotgun while training dogs is prohibited.

The Game Commission urges that owners of dogs show the same courtesies that apply during the hunting seasons, such as asking permission from landowners to train dogs on their properties.

MAY BECOME EXTINCT. The Department of the Interior's recent decision to include the peregrine falcon on the latest list of endangered animals in the United States reflects increasing public concern for this bird.

The population of this predatory bird (also known as "duck hawk"), which ranges from northern Alaska to Argentina, has been declining until today it has almost vanished as a breeding species east of the Mississippi. Conservationists fear the decline will continue until the bird disappears from the scene.

Researchers at the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife are not sure of the precise cause of the decline, but, like the bald eagle, this falcon is probably a victim of pesticides, growth of urban areas, disturbance at nesting sites, noise, and air pollution.

Placing the bird on the endangered list notifies the public that the bird requires special protection if it is to survive.

In America, as in other parts of the world, the peregrine has been used in falconry because of its ability to catch small prey. It readily yields to training under expert hands and is considered less temperamental than other hawks used for falconry.

Adults are a dark bluish-slate barred with black on the back, and creamy buff barred with black below. The cheeks are also black.

Its scientific name is Falco peregrinus which translates as the wandering falcon, a tribute to its far-ranging travels. It has slender, pointed wings, and sickle-shaped sharp talons for snatching its prey. The bill is hooked and sharply pointed, a highly lethal weapon.

The Peregrine's sharp wings enable it to dive swiftly from great heights where keen eyes spot its prey. Any small bird in flight is preferred, such as small ducks and pigeons, but peregrines occasionally take larger victims.

Nesting is usually in cliffs or bluffs; where these are absent, hollow tops of dead trees are favorite sites. No one knows whether peregrines mate for life but they have a dramatic courtship.

The Younger Set

"ROAD MAN" IS BIG! Teen girls voting for their favorite singing sound elected Glen Campbell No. 1 in a recent direct mail survey. The Supremes were runners-up and the magic of the Beatles kept the old boys in No. 3 spot just ahead of Gary Puckett and The Union Gap. Mark Lindsay, Tommy James and the Shondells, the Association and Elvis showed up solid on the popularity radar screen. The huge number of "favorites" drawing votes is a clue to the mix-up state of popular music. Almost 200 names were submitted, making the tabulation a nightmarish chore. P. S.: Tiny Tim, Edie Gorme, Jack Jones, Robert Goulet and Mama Cass polled exactly the same number of fans... far, far down the list. Verry interesting.

INK'S EVOLUTION: First use of ink goes back to about 1200 B.C. when the Chinese created what is still referred to as "India Ink." (It was made to blacken the surfaces of raised hieroglyphics.) The art of ink-making has reached a new level with the "space pen," a product sporting a pressurized cartridge guaranteed to write under "weightless" conditions. Will future astronauts carry a lead pencil just in case?

"TORA! TORA! TORA!" BUILD-UP? Huge controversy over Navy's co-operation in movie concerning Pearl Harbor attack. Twentieth Century Fox's use of the aircraft carrier Yorktown to dramatize the Japanese version of the sneak attack has senators and congressmen planning their own attack on the Pentagon and Hollywood. In these days of such poor "image" with young America the Defense Department (the Army is co-operating on "The Patton Story" with 20th Century Fox) should tread carefully as they look for publicity via the flicks. The fact that the Vietnam war is so unpopular with the draftables gives Hollywood (and the military) small choice in the type of boom boom and rat-tat-tat they grind out.

The Lighter Side

By ART THOMAS

I looked at the moon the other night. But I looked at it with a new feeling — a feeling of stunned sadness.

The bootprints of Neil Armstrong and Buz Aldrin, while making history, had at the same time ground into powdered dust the "Moon Songs" I had enjoyed so well over the years.

I gloried to the fullest in the achievements of those who first set foot on the lunar surface. With pride of country and pride of astronauts, it was the most moving moment I had ever experienced — and as a mere spectator.

But something went out of a portion of my life when the camera, in almost miraculous fashion, flashed back the first steps on the surface of the heavenly body which has looked down on man over the centuries.

THE STRAINS of "that same silvery moon" from "Maryland, My Maryland" — to me one of the most appealing of all moon songs — will never be quite the same.

No more can Vaughn Monroe with the same authority turn loose his powerful vocal cords on "Racing To The Moon." No more can that grand lady of song, Kate Smith, warble with tenderness "When The Moon Comes Over The Mountain" and expect the same audience reaction. Science, with its giant strides into space, has deemed it otherwise.

And what of the always pleasing "Moon Over Miami?"

The majestic heavenly ball peering down at shimmering palm trees and waters quietly lapping on peaceful sand beaches now seems to be wearing a "rocky" sternness instead of the benignity of the patron saint of lovers — young and old.

CLAIR DE LUNE and Moonglow." What of them? And "By The Light Of The Silvery Moon," "Moonlight Bay," "Shine On Harvest Moon," "Carolina Moon," "Wabash Moon," "Allegheny Moon," and on and on through the list of memorable compositions that have fallen gently on receptive ears.

And what of the future musically? The upcoming hit parades seem destined to take on an entirely new look — a change governed by the precise findings of science. And for a sentimentalist like myself, the "look" will be anything but satisfying.

Imagine dropping into your favorite music store and asking for "I Have A Cute Tomater Who Lives Across The Crater!"

Or, "There's Nothing That I'd Rather Do Than Walk The Lunar Trail With You."

Perhaps, "To Find Romance Mid All This Dust Would Surely Take A Lot Of Crust."

AND HOW ABOUT "To You I'd Get Down On My Knees, But For These Solar BVD's."

Or, "Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star, We Know Quite Well Just Where You Are." Possibly, "Let's Sit Right Here And Squeeze As The Dust Stirs Up A Lunar Sneeze."

Some others, "When The Astronauts Break Through The Blue, I'll Be Coming Home To You;" "I'd Love You In My Place Of Birth. If I Could Get You Down To Earth;" "The Moon's No Longer A Piece Of Cheese, So I Can't Woo With That Ancient Wheeze!"

Only the surface has been scratched in this lament of a moonstruck soul, just as only the surface has been scratched by the heroic astronauts.

The big difference is that their "scratching" will go down in history and mine will go down the drain.

Regardless, it was a depressing time in a musical sense July 20, 1969, when the once romantic moon came face to face with the coldly-calculated facts of scientific endeavor.

Ancient Phoenicia and modern water sports make an unusual combination — but these contrasting topics are featured on two new sets of stamps from Lebanon.

Hailing the International Conference of Museums, Lebanese postal officials issued five new stamps which depicted the following: 9th century BC Phoenician pot; an engraving of Pharaoh Amenhotep III (18th century BC) found at Byblos; a Phoenician dagger; details of King Ahiram's tomb with parts of the first alphabet; and a valuable piece of Phoenician currency.

All the originals are in the Beirut Museum.

The summer sports set shows water skiing, parachute skiing, sailing and an outline of bathing beauties.

A U.S. postage stamp encouraging rehabilitation of crippled children and adults will be issued Nov. 20 with first day Ceremonies in Columbus, Ohio. The details and design of the commemorative stamp will be reported in this column soon.

The issuance date coincides with the convention in Columbus of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults which has been in existence 50 years.

A reminder to first day cover collectors. Your requests for first day cancellations should go to the Postmaster, Columbus, Ohio 43216 before Nov. 20.

HERE'S SOME interesting news from the stamp auction scene.

The internationally famous collection of rocket covers, cards and stamps formed by the late Jesse T. Ellington of Greenwich, Conn., will be broken up and sold at auction by Harmer, Rooke shortly after the U.S. moon landing. The catalogue value is $78,000 but a larger amount is expected to be realized.

The covers and cards in the Ellington collection tell the story of mail rocketry, starting with the early experimental flights. The first try at sending mail by rocket was used by Friederich Schmeidl of Austria in 1928 near Graz, using a balloon from which he intended to fire a rocket. The experiment failed but covers from that trial are now catalogued from $80 to $400.

McLain Claims 15th Win; McNally's Streak Hits 14

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

With caps on his teeth, his airplane in the hangar and reacquired friend Mickey Lolich in the dugout, Denny McLain proved again he is as predictable on the field as he is unpredictable off it.

The Detroit right-hander, pitching like the 31-game winner he was last year, became the American League's first 15-game winner this season with another steady show Friday night as he hurled the Tigers by Kansas City 3-0.

His six-hit shutout, matching his six shutouts of 1968, came on the heels of a typical off-the-field week for the controversial McLain.

It started when he missed the starting assignment in the All-Star game Wednesday because his flight was late from Detroit, where he had some teeth capped.

Then came a feud with teammate Lolich over an airplane ride home from the game that Lolich expected and never got, and finally McLain's grounding by the Tigers from flying his own airplane.

Dave McNally, Reggie Jackson and Andy Messersmith, who lead more subdued private lives, also continued their steady winning performances. McNally, with relief help, ran his record to 14-0 as Baltimore beat the Chicago White Sox 4-2. Jackson rapped his 38th homer with a man on to give Oakland a 4-3 decision over Washington and Messersmith pitched a two-hitter in California's 6-0 triumph over the New York Yankees.

In the only other games, Minnesota won 16 innings for a 4-2 victory over Cleveland and Boston trimmed Seattle 7-6.

McLain, who settled his differences with Lolich Thursday before Lolich beat Kansas City 3-1 for a 14-2 record, raised his record to 15-5 while taking the league lead in shutouts. The one-two pitching punch impressed Royals' manager Joe Gordon, as well as his hitters.

"I haven't seen any pitchers in a row better than Lolich and McLain," he said. "I think there's a little awe attached when they pitch—especially because of our young guys and what those two did last year (Lolich was the World Series hero)."

McLain, who shrugged off scattered boos when he took the field at the start of the game, struck out eight and walked only one. Al Kaline's sacrifice fly in the fifth inning off loser Roger Nelson, 6-9, was enough, but Mickey Stanley singled in another and scored to a error in the seventh as the Tigers won their seventh game in eight starts.

McNally, within two victories of the single season mark of 16 consecutive victories and one shy of the two-season record of 17 in a row—he won his last two games in 1968—had a five-hit shutout into the eighth inning. But the White Sox rallied for two runs and it took three relievers to end the threat with the bases loaded.

Frank Robinson's three-run homer, his 23rd, in the first and Boog Powell's solo shot, his 26th, in the sixth put Baltimore ahead 4-0.

Jackson's wallop off All-Star reliever Darold Knowles, 2-2, brought Oakland from behind a 3-2 deficit in the seventh inning and gave the victory to Chuck Dobson, 12-7. It was Oakland's ninth victory in 10 starts and Washington's seventh defeat in eight games.

Messersmith, 9-7, won his ninth game in his last 11 decisions, giving only a first inning double to Jerry Kenny and a double to Jake Gibbs in the eighth. He had only a 1-0 lead against Fritz Peterson, 10-12, until the Angels exploded for five runs in the eighth against Lindy McDaniel.

Rod Carew's bloop double with two out in the 16th against Mike Paul, 2-8, gave Minnesota its victory.

Duke Sims had tied the game for Cleveland with a two-run homer with one out in the ninth, but Ron Perranoski, 6-5, blanked the Indians on one hit the last 5-2-3 innings.

Russ Gibson's pinch-hit, three-run homer in the eighth inning overcame a 5-4 deficit for Boston after Greg Goossen had put Seattle ahead with his first homer in the seventh.

San Diego pushed across a pair of unearned runs in the sixth inning and Joe Niekro made them stand up to beat Pittsburgh.

Richie Hebner, who had homered for the Pirates earlier, threw wild on Van Kelly's grounder, allowing one run to score and setting up another for the Padres.

Bob Gibson pitched a six-hitter, striking out 11 and ignited St. Louis' winning rally in the 13th inning with a single as the Cardinals trimmed the Giants.

Gibson scored St. Louis' winning run in the 13th on hits by Phil Gagliano and Curt Flood as the Cards won their 14th game in the last 18.

Nicklaus May Be Shaking Slump

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the burly golden bear, had his game in gear and appeared ready to again assume his position as the dominant figure in the game of gold today going into the third round of the American Golf Classic.

The 210-pound Ohio strongboy was a long way from pleased, however, even after a pair of 66s for a course record 132 on one of the toughest layouts the pros play, the awesome 7,180-yard par 70 south course at Firestone Country Club.

"I could have played better," said Nicklaus, who is fighting his way out of a slump that has lasted, off and on, for almost six months.

132 Sets Record At Akron

"And I could have scored better."

"It's not all back yet. I'm sure I can play better than this. But I hope it's coming back."

He held a one-stroke lead over balding Bobby Mitchell, a 26-year-old who is gunning for his first victory in 3½ years on the tour. Mitchell, who turned pro as a club assistant at the age of 15 in Danville, Va., shot an early 68 Friday and set the 36-hole course record at 133—which stood only until Big Jack began his lightning assault on the rugged course.

Frank Beard, 67, and Ray

Floyd, 68, were tied at 135 with Gene Littler at 137 after a 69, and host pro Bobby Nichols and Masters champion George Archer tied at 138, each with a second round 70.

Terry Wilcox, who shared the first round lead at 65, blew to a 74 for 139. Dave Hill winner of three of his last four starts, went to a 75 and was far back at 144.

Arnold Palmer rallied with a 68 for 143. Julius Boros had a 70 for 141, U.S. Open champion Orville Moody, a 71 for 142, and Lee Trevino a 72 for 143.

South African Bobby Cole

had one of the more unusual rounds of the year. He was out in 42, seven over par, then birdied the next five holes and came home in 30, a course record.

Mitchell had been in the clubhouse for a couple of hours when the powerful Nicklaus began his charge. He put a nine-iron 30 inches from the pin for a bird on the first hole and caught Mitchell with an eagle on the 500-yard par-five second. He was on in two powerful blows and rammed in a 20-foot putt.

He went ahead with a 25-foot putt on the fifth and was par for the last 13 matching one bogey with another bird.

"I was a little sloppy with some tee shots," Nicklaus said. "And I didn't putt quite as well. I made three birdie putts on the front nine and left the other six short, all going for the hole. And I had a couple of birdie opportunities on the last nine."

"But I liked the pattern of my play. I played better in the second round than I did in the first. I like that pattern. This was a better round. I felt more like I could depend on getting a 66 than I could have in the first round."

"I just hope it keeps improving."

Aaron Tied For 3rd After 536th

Trails Ruth, Mays In HR Production

By HAL BOOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a beautiful night for Hank Aaron but a bleak one for the Atlanta Braves.

Aaron reached two important career plateaus Friday but couldn't prevent the Braves from bowing to Montreal 8-7.

His first inning double was the 2,900th hit of his career, leaving him 100 short of his announced goal of 3,000. Then Aaron tagged his 536th homer, tying Mickey Mantle for third place on the alltime list. Only Babe Ruth with 714 and Willie Mays with 596 have hit more than the Atlanta slugger.

Aaron, who started this season with 510 career homers, has moved past Mel Ott (511), Eddie Mathews (512), Ted Williams (521) and Jimmy Foxx (534) this season, jumping from eighth place to a tie for third on the alltime list.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York trimmed Cincinnati 4-3, Los Angeles clipped Chicago 4-2, Philadelphia ripped Houston 7-3, San Diego edged Pittsburgh 3-2 and St. Louis squeezed past San Francisco 2-1 in 13 innings.

All of Aaron's hitting couldn't wipe out an early four-run lead which the Expos built in the first inning against Atlanta ace Phil Niekro on consecutive homers by Bob Bailey and Coco Laboy.

Bailey connected after Adolfo Phillips and Mack Jones had singled and then Laboy tagged a solo shot. Later Rusty Staub added a two-run homer.

J.C. Martin's two-out, two-run homer in the eighth inning climaxed a New York rally that pushed the Mets past Cincinnati.

The Reds were leading 3-1 when reliever Clay Carroll hit Cleon Jones with a pitch opening the eighth. Art Shamsky followed with a double and after two infield outs had delivered one run, Martin's fourth homer of the season put the Mets on top.

Tony Perez homered for the Reds.

Andy Kosco ripped a pinch two-run double that pulled the Dodgers past Chicago after Ferguson Jenkins was struck by a line drive and forced to leave the game.

Maury Wills had singled with one out in the third and then Willie Crawford ripped a liner that struck Jenkins on his pitching thumb and forced him to leave the game. Hank Aguirre relieved and after Willie Davis forced Crawford, Kosco batted for Len Gabrielson and doubled both runs home.

X-rays of Jenkins' thumb were negative and he is not expected to miss any pitching turns.

Grant Jackson scattered seven hits and snapped a personal four-game losing streak, pitching Philadelphia past Houston. It was only the second victory in the last 12 games for the Phillies.

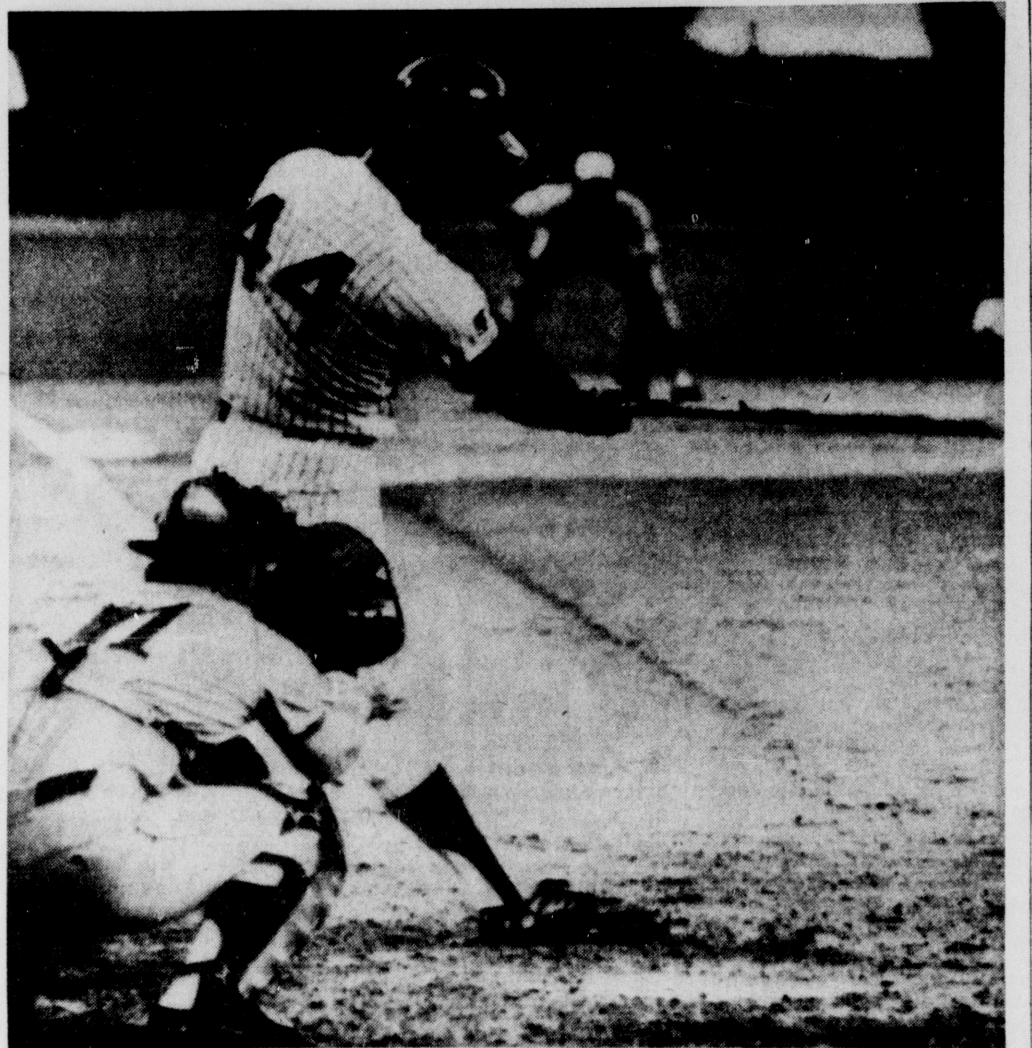

San Diego pushed across a pair of unearned runs in the sixth inning and Joe Niekro made them stand up to beat Pittsburgh.

Richie Hebner, who had homered for the Pirates earlier, threw wild on Van Kelly's grounder, allowing one run to score and setting up another for the Padres.

Bob Gibson pitched a six-hitter, striking out 11 and ignited St. Louis' winning rally in the 13th inning with a single as the Cardinals trimmed the Giants.

Gibson scored St. Louis' winning run in the 13th on hits by Phil Gagliano and Curt Flood as the Cards won their 14th game in the last 18.

Joe Namath Looks Sharp In Full-Scale Scrimmage

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The brief retirement of Joe Namath from pro football apparently didn't affect one bit his play on the field.

The star quarterback of the world champion New York Jets made his first competitive appearance of the season in a full-scale scrimmage Friday night at the Jets' camp at Hofstra College in Hempstead, N.Y.

Browns Hold Scrimmage

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Browns held their first scrimmage today at their Hiram College training camp with one more veteran signed up, leaving only four veterans unsigned.

Walter Johnson, a defensive tackle, signed a three-year contract Friday. The holdouts, defensive captain Jim Houston, Monte Clark, Dick Schafrath, and Milt Morin, are working out with the team as was Johnson before he signed. Morin is taking light exercises and studying plays as he recovers from back surgery that is expected to sideline him until mid-season.

Today's heavy contact drill is open to the public and traditionally draws a good crowd. The Browns put tickets on sale Friday for their annual exhibition doubleheader in Cleveland Municipal Stadium.

Polo Tonight

Beaver Valley plays host to the Cleveland Lancers in polo action this evening at the Darlington Polo field.

Cleveland's well-experienced team should prove to be a tough challenge for Beaver Valley. All in all, it promises to be a hard-fought polo match.

The action gets under way at 8 p.m. Children are admitted free to the match.

First Woman Umpire Will Work Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — A historic milestone for baseball and Mrs. Bernice Gera will be reached next Friday.

That night the 37-year-old Long Island housewife from Jackson Heights will become the first woman umpire in organized baseball. She will work the game at Auburn, N.Y., between the Auburn Twins and the Corning Royals in the Class A New York-Pennsylvania League.

Mrs. Gera said Friday she had received notice of her appointment as an umpire in the NY-P circuit from Vincent McNamara of Buffalo, president of the league. It ended her three-year fight with organized baseball to land a job as an umpire.

"I'm thrilled to death," she said. "Now I must go out and prove myself. I am sure some day we will have women umpires in the big leagues and I hope to be the first."

W. Allegheny Gains 3-2 Win Over Blair-Morse

West Allegheny scored an unearned run in the last of the ninth to gain a 3-2 extra-inning victory over Blair-Morse Friday at Imperial.

West Allegheny's Mazar allowed the East Liverpool nine only one hit and that was by Dan Cunningham.

Even with one hit Blair-Morse managed to post two runs. After West Allegheny scored two runs in the first inning, Blair-Morse tied the game with single runs in the fourth and seventh innings.

Mike Piatt went all the way for Blair-Morse blanking the Pennsylvanians after the first inning. He scattered nine hits.

Blair-Morse plays today at Monaca and Sunday at Salem in a Hot Stove state tournament.

Jividen Pitches No-Hitter For Newell In SS League

Dave Jividen hurled a no-hitter in the nighcap of a double-header Friday as Newell took two games from Hanover in South Side Seniors League action.

Jividen pitched his no-hitter after Mark Fabbro had thrown a one-hitter in the opening contest.

Fabbro recorded six strikeouts in that opener as Newell won 10-0 with an 11-hit attack.

In the second game, Hanover had even a harder time, getting no hits and losing 20-0. The losers did not make it any easier on themselves by committing 14 errors in the doubleheader.

Both contests went only five innings.

German Open Begins

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Paul Broadbent of Chicago shot a four-under-par 68 in the first round of the German Open Golf Championship Friday, but trailed the leader, Dale Hayes of South Africa, by three strokes. Hayes, a 17-year-old amateur, set a course record with his seven-under-par 65.

Simpson, Other Holdouts Wouldn't Be Welcomed Now At Stars' Camp

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Without op draft choice O.J. Simpson and six other highly-regarded holdouts, the cream of the 968 collegiate crop stood ready today to battle the Joe Namathled All-Star football game at Soldier Field Friday night.
Even if Southern California's Simpson, a high-priced bargain-er with the Buffalo Bills; Purdue's Leroy Keyes, and other inspired pro draftees showed up at the last minute, they wouldn't be welcome in All-Star coach Otto Graham's camp.
Sports Editor George Strick-
er of the Chicago Tribune, sponsor of the mid-summer classic, asserted today that the 40-member collegiate squad

wouldn't want any part of the holdout group originally invited.
"Even if any of them showed up tomorrow, we're not interested in just a personal appearance for Friday night's game," said Strickler.
"We're just interested in performances and these boys are not capable of giving a true performance. After the first 10 days of All-Star practice, no late starter can be of any value to the squad."
The Soldier Field arc-lighted battle, marking the first appearance by an American Football League club, will be televised nationally over the American Broadcasting Company (9:30 p.m. EDT).
Graham still has 17 of pro football's 26 first-round draft choices on an enthusiastic squad

drilling hard at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., since July 11.
Along with Simpson and Keyes, the other All-Star no-show holdouts include halfback Ron Johnson of Michigan, defensive tackle Joe Greene of North Texas State, split end
Ron Sellers of Florida State, tight end Ted Kwalick of Penn
State, and offensive guard
George Buehler of Stanford.
However, Graham, in his ninth All-Star coaching assignment, has No. 2 draft choice, tackle George Kunz of Notre Dame, anchoring an exceptional offensive line and No. 5 draft pick Greg Cook of Cincinnati heading a quarterback trio which also includes Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame and Bobby Douglass of Kansas.

Graham, returning after a three-year coaching tenure with the Washington Redskins, also has a raft of other first-round draft choices.
Graham-coached All-Stars scored the last two collegiate triumphs in the series—20-17 over the Green Bay Packers in 1963 and 35-19 over the Detroit
Lions in 1958.
It could be a wide-open game with the collegians trying to fight fire with fire, answering Namath's famed aerial accuracy with a shooting match of their own.
Along with Seymour, Washington and Hinton, the All-Stars have slick receivers in Jerry Levin of Southern Methodist,
John Spill of Northern Illinois and Mike O'Shea of Utah State.

Tribe Proves Tough Again For Twins But Bows In 16th

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Manager Billy Martin's Minnesota Twins are leading the American League's West Division by three games and the Cleveland Indians are dead last in the East, but Martin is one man who doesn't consider the Indians palsies.
After the Twins won 16 innings to beat the Tribe 4-2 Friday night, Martin said, "I don't know what it is that makes Cleveland so tough for us except that they have a much better club than anyone wants to give them credit for."
"Cleveland always plays well against us. We really hit some shots out there tonight and it took a bloop hit to win the game,
Martin said.
Those words are slight consolation for Tribe field boss Alvin Dark. Despite four victories in seven starts against the Twins this year, the Indians find themselves buried 28 games off the pace of East Division leader
Baltimore with a sorry 39 won,
60 loss record.
The bloop hit Martin was talking about was Rod Carew's two-out double in the 16th off reliever Horacio Pina. It scored Harmon Killebrew, who walked and Leo Cullen, who doubled, both off losing relief pitcher
Mike Paul (2-8).
The win went to Ron Perran-
oski (6-5), who worked 5 2-3 innings in relief and gave up only one hit and walked none.
"Perranoski was coming out at the end of the 16th even if we didn't score," Martin said. He had pitched well but it was very hot and he was tiring."

Catcher John Roseboro displayed the sentiment of all the weary players when he threw the ball into center field after Ken "Hawk" Harrelson struck out to end the game.
For the Indians, the marathon game of the year. They also went 16 innings in a 2-1 loss to Boston in their season home opener on April 11.
The Indians' Sam McDowell and the Twins' Jim Perry held a brilliant pitching duel to start the game. Perry worked the first 6 2-3 innings, gave up four hits, no runs, and struck out five.
McDowell gave up a single to leadoff batter Cesar Tovar in the first inning and didn't give up another hit until Frank Quilici led off the seventh with a single.
Quilici went to second on Rick Renick's single. Both runners advanced on a wild pitch and both scored on a single by Roseboro.
The Indians tied it up in the ninth when Harrelson walked and Duke Sims slugged his 10th home run of the season off Al Worthington.
Loser Paul worked 7 1-3 innings in relief, his longest stint in any game this year. He struck out five and gave up only three hits and two walks before being lifted in the 16th.

2 Veterans Lead Field At Montreal

MONTREAL (AP) — An age versus youth battle appears in the making for the climax to this year's Canadian Open Golf Championship.
A pair of seasoned veterans—who between them have won some 270 tournaments—were battling it out with two newcomers young enough to be their sons as the $125,000 tournament entered the third round today.
Sam Snead, who admits to 57 years and 131 tournament victories, continues to lead the way after firing his second consecutive sub-par round. He slipped one stroke to a four-under-par 68 from his opening round, but still wound up on top Friday with a 135 total.
That was one stroke better than Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, who at 46, claims he's lost count of his tournament victories, but contends a 140 figure wouldn't be far wrong.
However, the two elder statesmen were challenged by two relative unknowns, each seeking his first tournament victory and the $25,000 first prize.
Les Peterson of Riverside, Calif., a 28-year-old who graduated from the PGA's qualifier school last January, trails Snead by three strokes after rounds of 70 and 68. Peterson has won only $3,000 as a pro.
Vaughan Trapp of Victoria, B.C., also remained within reach of his first big pay day.
Trapp, a pro for nine of his 25 years, Friday fired a two-under 70 to go with his first-day 69 to put him four strikes back at 139.

Tourists See Grizzlies Eat Garbage

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — A garbage pit near this southern Montana gateway to Yellowstone National Park is a major attraction for out-of-town visitors and others who bypass locked gates to watch grizzly and black bears forage for food.

Despite continued warnings, as many as 50 persons a night walk or drive to the land fill dump area and watch the unpredictable beasts dig for food.

"I've expected someone to get killed," said Robert M. Brower, town mayor and druggist, who indicated people should know better, "but it hasn't happened."

"Anytime you're dealing with grizzlies there's a potential danger," he said.

There have been two significant bear-human encounters in the neighboring park this year. A 5-year-old Minnesota girl who frightened a 400-pound grizzly suffered serious puncture wounds in her chest and lacerations. Later, two fishermen wrapped in sleeping bags suffered minor injuries from a grizzly nosing around their campsite.

Continued warnings go unheeded. Last summer there were reports of evenings when 1,000 persons gathered along the dump's edges, crowding and shoving for a front-row seat as the bears waddled to dinner.

A locked gate across the main dump road has now cut the number of spectators significantly.

"It was terrible," said Hoskins. "They were pushing to get up front and when a bear moved toward the crowd a near-panic occurred."

The dump is operated by a private firm under contract from Gallatin County, which has been issued a special use permit by the Forest Service.

The Forest Service, Hoskins said, is trying to wean the bears off the dump, without suddenly depriving them of a major food source and thereby forcing them into West Yellowstone's residential area.

Personalities In The News

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Dr. Christian N. Barnard, the visiting South African heart transplant pioneer, was asked by a reporter Friday if he considered himself a playboy.

Replied Barnard: "I think I am a good surgeon. One cannot be a good surgeon and at the same time a good playboy."

HAVANA, CUBA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro was one of Cuba's avid television followers of the flight of Apollo 11, informed sources said Friday.

They said Castro went to Havana University to watch color programs from the United States when the astronauts walked on the moon Sunday night. He returned Thursday to watch the splashdown in the Pacific.

Glenn Receives New Backing On Senate Race Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The idea of former astronaut John Glenn being a candidate for U.S. Senator from Ohio was warmly received by the Ohio Democratic Party County Chairman's Association Friday night.

But Glenn, who attended the group's meeting to feel out support, again declined to call himself a candidate.

Answering questions from the Democratic representatives of Ohio's 88 counties, Glenn discussed his views on Vietnam, racial tension in the country, space exploration and poverty.

When former State Sen. Stephen Oleinick, now auditor of Mahoning County offered Glenn's name as a candidate his motion was warmly applauded.

And Oleinick, asked if he thought Glenn would run, said, "He certainly will or he wouldn't be here tonight."

At a press conference following the meeting, Glenn denied he is considering running for governor and said he would make his decision on the Senate race by mid-fall.

U.S. Sen. Stephen Young and John Gilligan, unsuccessful candidate for the U.S. Senate in 1968, both were invited to address the group, but were unable to attend.

All Association officers were re-elected and three new vice chairmen were added. "They are Scott Ray of Warren County, Charles Harnetty of Perry County and Ralph Phillips of Highland County."

Re-elected were Robert W. Blakemore, president; Nelson Humphrey, vice president; Robert J. Kuhn, vice chairman; Ronald K. Millison, vice chairman; George W. Twyford, vice chairman; Herbert C. Wolf, secretary, and Roger Di Paolo, treasurer.

They will serve until June 1970, when officers will be elected for two-year terms.

Building Start Slated For 'Space' Museum

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The $1 million Neil Armstrong Aerospace Museum at Wapakoneta may be an actuality within a year.

Dan R. Porter, director of the Ohio Historical Society, said today that construction is to start before Jan. 1.

He said it would be a 10,000-square-foot museum on a site to be selected by August along a highway near Wapakoneta, where the parents of the Apollo 11 commander live.

The state will provide $500,000 from historical society appropriations, with the rest to be raised by public donations. A committee to guide the campaign for funds has been named.

Porter said 10 sites are being considered.

Senate Rejects Moore Appointment In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — The State Senate refused to approve Friday the appointment of John R. Hoblitzell, 21, of Parkersburg, in the State Board of Regents.

It was the only appointment on Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.'s list of 84 nominees that was not approved.

Senate President Lloyd G. Jackson, D-Lincoln, said Hoblitzell did not qualify for the board under a provision of the State Constitution that specifies "no person, except citizens entitled to vote, shall be elected or appointed to any state, county or municipal office."

Hoblitzell is a prelaw student at West Virginia University. Moore told the Senate shortly before adjournment late Friday night that it would not be appropriate for him to comment on the refusal of the appointment.

But the governor said he would convey to Hoblitzell that the Senate's act was not a reflection on him but a question of the approach to be taken in making the appointment.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE MOON

QUESTION: Why is the surface of the moon more rugged than that of the earth?

ANSWER: There are many heavenly bodies in our solar system which we do not see. Some may be as small as a grain of sand, others very large. As these circle around the sun, they may come close to one of the planets or moons of the solar system, be attracted by that body's gravitation and go hurtling into it at terrific speed. In (1) we see three such objects crashing into the moon. When objects like this strike, they leave circular craters on the moon's surface, and the poor old moon is pock marked by thousands upon thousands of such craters, some huge, others tiny (2). Hot, volcanic lava is thought to have flowed up from below and filled some of these craters. In (3) three bodies are being also attracted to the surface of the earth — but what a contrast to the moon! Notice they don't get down to Earth's surface — that's because our layer of atmosphere burns almost all of them up by friction, before they strike. That's why the surface of the earth is so much more pleasant than the harsh landscape on the moon.

(Harriette Arnold of Pelzer, S.C., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)
